To whom it may concern.

I have known Simon Mitchell for some 5 years. Our relationship has been a professional one where he has supervised the construction of a 3 million dollar high end contemporary two storey residence with cellar on the Swan River.

The battleaxe site was challenging to deal with as it not only required substantial earth works and “contiguous” pile footings to an unstable side boundary but was also difficult to physically store building materials.

Throughout the construction phase the built form required a daily hands on approach coordinating trades ensuring the job went along smoothly and efficiently.

Our clients were elated with the quality of finish achieved by the builder.

As a registered builder Simon Mitchell is on my tender list because he is reliable, maintains a high standard from his trades, is passionate about his work, has good people and communication skills and has sound construction knowledge.

Kind regards,

R Boshart
